A HEARTLESS WOMAN. How She Managed to Get her Husband Back into Juli.

At the central criminal court, Lon don, the other day, just as the jury were beginning to consult as to their verdict, the prisoner, an ex-convict, who had been taken into custody with spurious coin in his possession was allowed by the Judge, Justice Hawkins, to question a policeman, the following sensational episode be-ing the result: ing the result: "Was it a woman (he asked) who gave you the information! The policeman hesitated. "Answer!" commanded the Judge

"It was," said the officer. "Do you see her in court?" asked the prisoner.

The officer looked about vaguely "Is that the woman?" asked the prisoner, pointing to a rather showily dressed woman with handsome fea-tures, but a disdainful expression of

"It is," replied the officer. "My Lord," said the prisoner, with a slight tremor in his voice, "that is

A buzz of surprise followed the announcement, and the woman turned her head away from the dock.

"I would like to say a few words,
hy Lord," continued the prisoner.

"The Court will hear you, "said Mr.

"Thank you, my Lord," said the prisoner, no longer betraying any and the law library, twenty six by emotion, but speaking in clear, firm forty-eight feet; nine judges rooms, ones. "I have served seven years on a similar charge to that now preferred against me. If I am again convicted, you will give me at least one and twenty years, and that will end my life. Bufore you do so I would like you to know the whole truth of the affair. I married reason to the committee and miscellaneous purposes, affair. I married young. My wife unexpectedly showed extravagant tastes and very expensive habits. I was very fond of her and did all I could to content her. Honestly I was very fond of her and did all I could to content her. Honestly I could not keep page with her desires, and we took to coming. She was with me in all my operations, aided in the work and assisted in passing the money. When we were taken the evidence was just as strong against incr as against me. In answer to questions I put to my counsel, I was told that if I pleaded and said that I had compelled her to help me, she would get off. I did so and she was acquitted. I was sentenced to my full time, and came back to London, determined to lead an honest hire and to restore my wife to an honest home. It was every time to restore my wife to an honest home. It was every time to restore my wife to an honest home. It was every time to restore my wife to an honest home. It was every time to restore my wife to an honest home. It was every time before I found her. Honeston are included and sold that the bottom of the most of the services and familiarize themselves with the work of similar structures now being built.
